Objective:

Provides resource-constrained countries with the GIS tools and training needed to conduct their work to help people and the planet

Description:

Lack of access to GIS tools needed to build effective systems

Esri's special offerings help eligible organizations access Esri GIS software, training, and content they need. Programs are available for mapping, statistical, land, maritime, agriculture and health related agencies

Goal is to get tools into hands of those who need it most. Provide tools to plan work, conduct field data collections, monitor operations, analyze and then disseminate authoritative data quickly to improve decision making

Periodic reporting of Number of agencies/countries we are able to support via the program
